[Explanatory note: This section defines sexual harassment. If examples are included, it is important to note that they are not exhaustive, and that sexual harassment can include any conduct of a sexual nature which is unwanted and unwelcome by the recipient.]

Anyone can be a victim of sexual harassment, regardless of their gender and of the gender of the harasser. We recognize that sexual harassment may also occur between people of the same gender. What matters is that the sexual conduct is unwanted and unwelcome by the person against whom the conduct is directed.

[Explanatory note: This means that individuals of any gender can be victim of sexual harassment in the workplace.]

Anyone, including employees of Par Marketing, clients, customers, casual workers, contractors or visitors who sexually harass another will be reprimanded in accordance with this internal policy.

All sexual harassment is prohibited whether it takes place within office premises or outside, including at social events, business trips, training sessions or conferences sponsored by the company.

Complaints procedures

Anyone who is subject to sexual harassment should, if possible, inform the alleged harasser that the conduct is unwanted and unwelcome. The company recognizes that sexual harassment may occur in unequal relationships (i.e. between a supervisor and his/her employee) and that it may not be possible for the victim to inform the alleged harasser.

If a victim cannot directly approach an alleged harasser, he/she can approach to HR or any member of sexual harassment committee.

This committee is responsible for receiving complaints of sexual harassment.

When a committee member receives a complaint of sexual harassment, he/she will:

- immediately record the dates, times and facts of the incident(s).
- ascertain the views of the victim as to what outcome he/she wants.
- ensure that the victim understands the company's procedures for dealing with the complaint.
- discuss and agree the next steps: either informal or formal complaint, on the understanding that choosing to resolve the matter informally does not preclude the victim from pursuing a formal complaint if he/she is not satisfied with the outcome.

- keep a confidential record of all discussions.
- respect the choice of the victim.
- ensure that the victim knows that they can lodge the complaint outside of the company through the relevant legal framework.

Informal complaints mechanism

If the victim wishes to deal with the matter informally, the designated person will:

- give an opportunity to the alleged harasser to respond to the complaint.
- ensure that the alleged harasser understands the complaints mechanism.
- facilitate discussion between both parties to achieve an informal resolution which is acceptable to the complainant or refer the matter to a designated mediator within the company to resolve the matter.
- ensure that a confidential record is kept of what happens.
- follow up after the outcome of the complaints mechanism to ensure that the behaviour has stopped.
- ensure that the above is done speedily and within 15 days of the complaint being made.

Formal complaints mechanism

If the victim wants to make a formal complaint or if the informal complaint mechanism has not led to a satisfactory outcome for the victim, the formal complaint mechanism should be used to resolve the matter.

The designated person who initially received the complaint will refer the matter to a human resources manager to instigate a formal investigation. Human resources manager may deal with the matter him/herself, refer the matter to an internal or external investigator or refer it to a committee in accordance with this policy

The person carrying out the investigation will:

- interview the victim and the alleged harasser separately.
- interview other relevant third parties separately.
- decide whether the incident(s) of sexual harassment took place.
- produce a report detailing the investigations, findings and any recommendations.
- if the harassment took place, decide what the appropriate remedy for the victim is, in consultation with the victim (i.e.- An apology, a change to working arrangements, a promotion if the victim was demoted as a result of the harassment, training for the harasser, discipline, suspension, dismissal).

- follow up to ensure that the recommendations are implemented, that the behaviour has stopped, and that the victim is satisfied with the outcome
- if it cannot determine that the harassment took place, he/she may still make recommendations to ensure proper functioning of the workplace.
- keep a record of all actions taken.
- ensure that the all records concerning the matter are kept confidential
- ensure that the process is done as quickly as possible and in any event within 15 days of the complaint being made.

A person who has been subject to sexual harassment can also make a complaint outside of the company. They can do so through a legal framework.
